

RoyOMartin Forest Technicians Earn LTC-Oakdale Diplomas

On the evening of May 13, 2009, seven RoyOMartin forestry technicians graduated from Louisiana Technical College (LTC). The technicians took part in an exclusive four-year training program developed jointly by RoyOMartin and LTC's Oakdale campus. Courses included dendrology, mapping, silviculture, and insects and diseases, among others. Earning his Associate of Applied Science in Forest Technology was Roger Bennett. Earning the Technical Diploma in Forest Technology were Kenny Cobb, Matt Flynn, Michael Marcantel, Greg Monroe, James Richmond and Raymond Rollins. As part of the graduation ceremony held at the RoyOMartin corporate headquarters, LTC forestry instructors and company executives Mickey Rachal and Scott Poole offered congratulatory remarks and best wishes to the students. Several of the graduates' family members also attended. Immediately following the ceremony, attendees were treated to a steak dinner.

RoyOMartin is proud of the hard work and commitment shown by these seven forestry team members over the past four years.

Front row, L-R: Bennett, Richmond, Marcantel, Rollins. Back row: Cobb, Monroe, Flynn